

SMC Charter

PART 1: IDENTITY & OPERATIONS

Our Purpose

SMC exists to build a globally integrated talent ecosystem for a better future, grounded in core human values.

Anchored in our Global Integrated Talent Ecosystem (GITE), we connect current leaders, emerging leaders, and future leaders through mentorship, cross-generational dialogue, and experiential learning. By fostering global readiness, leadership continuity, and a spirit of giving back, we empower individuals to grow from learners to leaders and from leaders to mentors.

How We Work Together

We are a volunteer community. We rely on shared commitments to show up well for one another and the people we serve. This includes our mentors and leaders, our mentees who are building their path, and those who carry more than one role at once. Whatever your role, these commitments apply.

Communicate

Speak promptly, clearly, and with respect. If plans change, we say so early.

Decide

Decide collaboratively where possible, with clear accountability and no drift.

Celebrate

Recognise contribution genuinely and often, not only through formal awards.

PART 2: THE PILLARS

The Pillars

These six pillars describe our community at its best.

1

Courage to Step Forward

Why: We do not wait for perfect conditions before acting.

How: We volunteer early, take on hard conversations, and act on belief.

2

Intergenerational Respect

Why: Age differences are a strength to be shared: blending mentors' life experience with mentees' fresh perspectives.

How: We listen deeply, stay curious, and learn across life stages.

|   |                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 3 | Growth as a ResponsibilityWhy: Growth strengthens the whole community.How: We invest in development, reflect honestly, and share what we learn.             |
| 4 | Community Over SelfWhy: What we build must outlast any one individual.How: We put the community first, share credit, and build beyond ourselves.            |
| 5 | Giving BackWhy: We honour what we received by paying it forward.How: We invest in others, give attention generously, and remember the help we received.     |
| 6 | Consistency and IntegrityWhy: Our values should be consistent across every setting.How: We do what we say, hold our standards, and represent SMC with care. |

PART 3: THE BILATERAL COMPACT

What SMC Commits to You

Grounded in Singapore's best practices for volunteer involvement, SMC commits to providing:

|                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ClarityClear roles, expectations, and a named SMC contact.                                                                                     | SupportProper orientation and the tools needed to succeed.                                                                                                                                                                            |
| WellbeingA safe, respectful environment free from harassment or discrimination.                                                                | VoiceA fair way to give feedback and raise concerns.                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| RecognitionMeaningful recognition of your service and milestones.                                                                              | Data ProtectionResponsible handling of your information in line with PDPA.                                                                                                                                                            |
| Global NetworkingOpportunities to connect, share ideas, and build lasting relationships with a global network of current and emerging leaders. | ExitYou may step back with reasonable notice and no judgment. In the rare case SMC needs to end an arrangement, we will handle it fairly and explain why, guided by our Volunteer Grievances and Misconduct Guidelines and Procedure. |
| For Our Mentees                                                                                                                                    | What We Ask of Mentees                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

A structured experience designed for your growth, with mentors who are committed to your development and a community that takes your progress seriously.

Show up prepared and engaged. Treat mentors, fellow mentees, and SMC with respect. Keep what is shared in the programme confidential. Do not use the programme to solicit personal favours, referrals, or opportunities.

What We Ask of You

In return, this is what we ask of every volunteer:

Conduct and Integrity

We expect you to act honestly, treat others with respect, and represent SMC well in everything you do, on and off the programme.

Confidentiality and Data

Keep what others share with you private. Do not collect, use or pass on anyone's personal information without their consent and SMC's approval.

Conflicts of Interest

Tell us early if a personal, business or family connection could affect your judgement in your SMC role. We will work through it together.

Intellectual Property

Materials you create as part of your SMC role belong to SMC. Full terms are set out in your Volunteer Agreement.

Volunteer Grievances and Misconduct Guidelines and Procedure

If you see or experience something that does not feel right, raise it. We take every concern seriously and handle it fairly, guided by our Volunteer Grievances and Misconduct Guidelines and Procedure.

Our Commitment to Each Other

By joining SMC, we commit to these values in action, hold each other to these standards with care and without judgment, and always keep coming back to what we are building together.

This charter is a living document and will be reviewed as SMC grows. Version 1.0, 2026. (Updated 30 Jun 2026)